ExpressCredit	Namibia	EUR	€4,526	€1,052,639	-	€1,153,754	91.6%	17.20%	We've agreed on a new repayment schedule with ExpressCredit. According to the schedule, the lending company has to transfer €50k per month in November, December and January, which will increase to €160k per month starting from February 2023. The next payment is scheduled for the end of November. Interest on pending payments will be covered in full. Pending payments are growing due to the long transition process to Notes which is caused by local currency control restrictions and specific conditions related to that. ExpressCredit and Mintos are still working on a solution to allow the company to transition to Notes. Also the lending company is working on attracting additional funds. As soon as the company manages to find alternative funding or is able to transition to the Notes setup, pending payments will decrease faster.
GFM	Kazakhstan	EUR	€26,350	€89,303	-	€1,001,662	11.5%	53.50%	We received €115k in KZT this week from GFM, and expect to receive more by the end of the week. The lending company will continue making daily transfers. GFM aims to make daily transfers in the amount of KZT 20-30m, the limit set by its commercial bank. However, actual transfers may be lower due to administrative overhead, as the bank requires GFM to provide proof of each borrower payment received. GFM is working on a solution to automate this process so that it can make full use of the daily limit. Interest on pending payments will be covered in full.
